The MONITOR. N° 18.

Hic niger eſt, hunc tu Romane, caveto. Hor.

The following is a Letter from my Friend Timothy Forecaſt, of Forecaſt-Hall, in the County of Forecaſt, Eſqr;

To the Worſhipful the MONITOR.

Sir,

" I Think myſelf oblig'd to acquaint your Worſhip, that at my firſt coming into theſe Parts, our Inhabitants were few, and for ſome Years after the County was ſeated, we were moſt grievouſly infeſted with Wolves and Bears, to the great Perplexity of myſelf and Neighbours; but Thanks be prais'd, as we increas'd in Numbers, we ſoon clear'd the Country of ſuch unwelcome Gueſts; and have remain'd in a State of Tranquility, 'till of late: But now we labour under a much worſe Calamity, and are oblig'd to grapple and encounter with a greater Enemy! 'Tis call'd (as our Parſon informs us) a TALE-BEARER: He ſays 'tis a kind of an amphibious Creature, and has been often obſerv'd to take the Water: The People in our Country took it for an Evil Spirit, for 'tis at all Times upon the March, Day and Night; they therefore requeſted our Parſon to lay it in the Red-Sea; and indeed to do him Juſtice, he has done his Endeavours, but all to no Purpoſe, it ravages as bad as ever; and in ſhort, the laſt Sabbath-Day, he told us flat and plain, there was no other Method to guard againſt it, but by way of Charm, which he thought himſelf in Duty bound to give to every one of his Pariſhioners, which was accordingly diſtributed among us yeſterday: And as I doubt not but this dangerous Creature, may ſtroll into your Parts, and having a perfect Love for the Community, and a ſtrict and particular Regard for your Worſhip, I have prevail'd upon our Miniſter to ſend you one of them; which I hope you'll publiſh for the Good of Mankind.

I am Yours, &c. T. F.

A CHARM, to ward againſt that dangerous Creature, the TALE-BEARER.

WOuld you lead a peaceable, undiſturb'd Life,
Firſt carefully ſhun each Appearance of Strife:
Baniſh Envy, the Bane of all Joy, from your Mind,
'Tis the worſt of all Plagues which infeſt human Kind.

To a TALE-BEARER's Word, never give the leaſt Ear,
But put the beſt Meaning on all Things you hear:
Your Acquaintance when abſent, if cenſur'd, defend;
Such a generous Temper is worthy a Friend.

Any Faults that you know, ever ſcorn to expoſe,
And cheriſh no Scandal, though caſt on your Foes:
Let Reproof, not Reproach, be the Bent of your Mind;
Good Advice is quite loſt, where Ill-Nature is join'd.

Defamation is baſe, on whatever Pretence,
And though fruitful with Malice, 'tis barren of Senſe:
And that Perſon an Ideot by all ſtands confeſt;
Who'll part with his Friend, e'er he'll part with his Jeſt.

'Bove all, ſhun that Man as the blackeſt of Fiends
Who delights in betraying the Secrets of Friends.

Dublin, Sept. 21.

THE Waters at Lough-Leighs, in the County of Cavan, perform ſuch wonderful Cures for the Scurvy and Itch, Cancers, Scald-Heads, Sores, Scabs, Ulcers, and Venereal Diſorders, that the People from all Parts of the Kingdom are flocking thither. It is univerſally allow'd, that no Waters in Europe, are equal to theſe, both for internal and external Diſorders, which cannot be cur'd in Italy, or the South Parts of France: Our Goats Whey in the Mountains of Moral, excels any other in Europe, and infallibly cures all Conſumptive People: Our Waters at Mallow, are much ſuperior to thoſe of Briſtol, Scarborough, or Aix-la-Chapelle; ſo that if we have not as much Riches as other Nations, we have much better Medicines for the Preſervation or Recovery of our Health.

London, Sept. 28. On Saturday the Corpſe of Mr. Harris, Maſter of the Crown Tavern in Threadneedle-ſtreet, after having laid in State, about Four in the Afternoon, was carry'd out of Town, and interr'd at Barking in Eſſex. He died a Batcheldor, and by his Will, appointed his Brother and Siſter to be his Executors, and to his Servants he bequeathed for Mourning, viz. to the Bar-keeper, 30 l. the Head Cook, 10 l. the Under Cook, 7 l. the Cellar-Man 10 l. Three Head Drawers, 10 l. each, Three Under Drawers, 7 l. each, Three Servant Maids, 5 l. each, Two Porters, 5 l. each, the Oyſter Woman at the Gate, 5 l. and the Laundry-woman, Two Guineas.

The Sieur Angeau, a famous Limner, having drawn his Majeſty's Picture, in Miniature, to a ſurprizing Likeneſs, had the Honour to carry it to the Queen of Pruſſia as a Preſent from his Majeſty.

The Officers of the Horſe and Foot-Guards, who are abſent on Licences of Leave in Parts beyond the Seas, have had Orders ſent them to repair forthwith to their reſpective Poſts.

And all the Out-lying Men in the Foot-Guards, have been ſtrictly order'd to lie in their Quarters.

We hear from Suſſex, that the Smugglers are very unwilling to reſign their gainful Trade of running Goods; and that notwithſtanding the Severities of the Laws provided againſt it, and the Vigilance of the Officers in executing of the ſame, they ſtill carry off large Quantities of Tea from the Coaſt into the Country, going in ſtrong Bonies, ſometimes Twenty in a Gang, well arm'd, to the very great Detriment of the fair Traders here in Town, who have now ſcarce any Demand for that Commodity in either that or the adjacent Countries.

On Friday laſt, a Cave was diſcover'd by a Servant of the Lady Dutree's, in the Fields between Putney and Wandſworth, wherein was found a great blue Coat, which is ſaid to belong to a Gang of Robbers, who have not only robb'd, but almoſt murder'd ſeveral Perſons in that Neighbourhood. There has been found in the ſaid Fields, a good natural Wigg, and Blood by it, and it's thought the Owner is murder'd by thoſe Ruffians.

Extract

Extract of a Letter from Presbourg, Sept. 17.

'Letters here from Upper Hungary, advise us of a very 'remarkable Phenomenon in the County of Saros: After 'a violent Storm that held all Night, a most dreadful 'Noise was heard from Mount Caprack; a Mountain 'that makes a Part of it was found in the Morning in a 'quite different Situation from what is was the Night be-'fore; a Path that led to the Top of it was turn'd from 'the Right to Left; several Heights were levell'd, and 'Heights were rais'd in other Places where there had been 'none; Rivulets and Lakes on the Declivity of the Moun-'tain were quite dry'd up, and others form'd in distant 'Places: It is also obierv'd, that the Plough'd Lands 'about the Bottom of the Mountain, have also changed 'their Situation, and that deep Clefts have been made in 'the Earth, in several Places. Our Advices add, that the 'Peasants of the neighbouring Villages felt several Shocks 'of an Earthquake.

London, Sept. 30. 'Tis talk'd as a Thing certain, that the King of Sardinia, is about to marry the Duke of Lorrain's Sister; and that the Infanta Mary of Spain, will be soon carry'd to France, to be educated there, in order for a future Marriage with the Dauphin.

The Report in the French Letters that the Grand Signior had declar'd War with the Emperor, is by no Means confirm'd. His Imperial Majesty is however making vast Preparations, for beginning a War early in the Spring, in case an Accommodation is not brought about this Winter, which Sir Everard Fawkener and the Dutch Minister, leave no stone unturn'd to effect. The Persian Embassador at Constantinople, demands such a Restitution of Countries conquer'd from his Country, as will almost strip the Ottoman Empire. He insists likewise, that no Negotiation be set on Foot without Russia. Thus a sudden Peace with the new Sophi, seems not to be expected. The Grand Vizier, who carry'd the Russian Minister with him from Constantinople, has sent him back again under a Guard, pretending that he cannot protect him from Insults; but the Truth is, that he may not be longer a Spy upon the Want of Discipline in his Army, the Officers of which dare not even reprimand their Soldiers. The Vizier's Army, such as it is, is numerous, and well furnish'd with Artillery, but they have no Engineers of their own, nor have been able to procure any from other Countries, unless a few Renegades.

On Tuesday Morning, William Rous and Benjamin Rawlins, Esqrs. the new Sheriffs, and the following Aldermen, viz. Sir Robert Baylis, Sir John Thompson, Sir Henry Hankey, Micajah Perry, Esqr; Sir John Salter, John Lequesne and Robert Willimott, Esqrs. met at Merchant-Taylors Hall in Threadneedle-street, and proceeded with the Salters Company on Foot, the Sheriffs and Aldermen in their Coaches, to Guildhall, where they were sworn in with the usual Ceremony.

Yesterday came on the Election of a Lord Mayor for the Year ensuing, when Sir John Thompson, Kt. and Alderman, being next the Chair, was chosen.

The Conversion of one Alexander Hunter to Popery, is talk'd of at Lisbon as a mighty Victory: He is a Scots Gentleman, and aged about 26 Years; he renounced the Protestant Religion in the most solemn Manner in the Royal College of the Jesuites, before Father Emanuel Don Anjos, Professor of Divinity; and had for his Godfather Doctor Emanuel Braz Anjo, Canon of the Cathedral Church of Oporto, and Vice-Rector of the University.

Mr. Nixon, the Nonjuring Clergyman, who was in Newgate on Suspicion of being concern'd in the scandalous Libels dispers'd in Westminster-Hall, has been admitted to Bail before the Right Hon. the Lord Chief Justice Hardwicke.

London, Oct. 7. They write from Edinburgh, That the Royal Regiment of Scots Grey, are come to lie at Haddington, Prestonpans, Tranent, &c. and the Regiment of Dragoons, commanded by Lieutenant-General Gore, are come to Dalkeith, Musleburgh, &c. to whom Powder and Ball were delivered yesterday out of the Castle.

A Guard is kept in the Westport and Porteraw, every Night; and a Company of Train'd Bands continue to mount: Notwithstanding of all which, the City is in a perfect Tranquility. 'Tis said that some Persons of low Rank, are gone out of the Way; from whence People infer that they had a Hand in the Riot.

The Magistrates are very busy in endeavouring to find out the Murderers of Capt. Porteous, who was to them a useful Man on several Occasions.

Those Letters add, that in the Beginning of Queen Anne's Reign, there happen'd an Affair which something resembled this: When the Earl of Seafield was Chancellor, one Green was condemn'd for the Murder of Capt. Middleton; and the Ministry at that Time having a Mind to save him, the Council at Edinburgh order'd him to be reprieved, which the Mob hearing, when the Earl came out of the Council, they broke his Coach and Coach Glasses, overturn'd the Coach and greatly insulted the Earl, and oblig'd him to go back to the Council and get the Reprieve chang'd into an Order for his Execution, and he was executed accordingly.

We hear an Enquiry will be made at the next Sessions at the Old Baily, how Sutton, Vaughan, Mackdonald, and others, lately return'd from Transportation, arriv'd here, and were landed abroad.

Yesterday the Right Hon. Sir Charles Wager, went abroad from the Admiralty for the first Time since his late Illness, waited on her Majesty at Kensington, and met with a gracious Reception; her Majesty expressing great Satisfaction at his happy Recovery.

London, October 9. We hear from Greenwich, That the Inhabitants of that Town, to their great Joy, have obtain'd a Grant for a Market; and that a Plan for the same is now drawing by an able Hand.

'Tis surprising they should so long complain of such a Grievance, and that a Town so much frequented, and near London, should be so destitute of Eatables, that several of the London Gentry have left their Lodings upon that Account.

We hear that Two Twenty-Gun Ships are order'd to sail to Georgia, to join his Majesty's Sloop the Hawk, station'd there.

Thursday Mrs. Mapp, the famous Bone-Setter at Epsom, came from thence in her Chariot, with a handsome Retinue, to the Grecian Coffee-house, Devereux Court, where she perform'd a wonderful and surprising Cure, on a poor Man who lives in Wardour-street, near Soho-Square; the Case was as follows, viz. the Man had the Misfortune of having his Back-Bone out about Nine Years since, which stuck out about Two Inches, and could find no Relief; she put it in its proper Place, and the Operation was perform'd in the Presence of several Persons of Distinction.

After she had perform'd the Cure, out of her Generosity, she made him a Present of Half a Guinea, and the Gentlemen present at the Operation, made a Collection towards his Support.

The same Day, about Four o'Clock in the Afternoon, in the Presence of Sir Hans Sloane, Sir Richard Manningham, and several other Gentlemen, she perform'd another surprising Cure, on a Girl about Six Years of Age, who was crooked almost from her Birth, by having one of the Joints of her Back-Bone displac'd, which she put in with a great deal of Dexterity, and made the Child walk upright before the Company, to their great Admiration.

On Thursday were enter'd at the Custom-House, for Exportation to Portugal, 800 Quarters of Wheat, where a good Market is still found for that Commodity.

They write from Lisbon, that the Court had receiv'd certain Advice of the Arrival of Don Emanuel, the King of Portugal's Brother, at the Court of Madrid, where he was receiv'd with extraordinary Honours.

The King of Prussia continues endeavouring by all Methods, rough and smooth, to engage the Dutch on his Side, with regard to his Pretensions, to the Succession of Bergues and Juliers; and the Court of France at the same Time employs her utmost Interest to keep the Republick neuter. The States-General seem in great Perplexity, as indeed they have Reason, for his Prussian Majesty counts much upon his Succession to East Friezland, and is determin'd, in case they do not befriend him in the Affair of Bergues and Juliers, to make Embden a free Port, which will not inconsiderably effect the Trade of Holland, seeing 'tis reckon'd reckon'd that the City of Embden has a much safer Harbour and Entrance, than any Town in the Provinces.

We are assur'd from Brussels, that accordingly to Advices from French Flanders, there was a great Body of Troops in that Country; and that between the Moselle and the Sea, the French have no fewer than 90 Battalions and 18 Regiments of Horse: It is even added, that they are to be augmented by the Troops coming from Italy.

And from Dunkirk we are inform'd, that besides the prodigious Quantity of Corn that was laid up in the Magazines of that Town, they have lately receiv'd an additional Supply of 60,000 Bushels.

The French pretend, that the Number of Troops which they have drawn together in Flanders, are design'd as a Corps of Observation on his Prussian Majesty, and to prevent his seizing upon the Dutchies of Berques and Juliers, in case of the Death of the Elector Palatine: But if this be true, what will the Emperor say to a Proceeding which threatens a Maxim of which the Germans have been always jealous, to wit, that no Foreign Power can be suffer'd to interfere in Affairs which relate solely to Persons or Things immediately within the Body of the Empire.

Particular Letters from Vienna mention, that the Ministers of England and Holland, having presented Memorials after Memorials to the Emperor's Ministers, with Reasons which might induce his Imperial Majesty not to think of a Rupture with the Turk, were surpriz'd to find that the Court took Measures directly contrary, and seem'd bent on a War; on which they drew up a new Representation, and committed it to a Nobleman, at present in great Favour with the Emperor, in order to lay it before his Sovereign; and that they soon after discover'd that all their former had been intercepted, and the Emperor a Stranger to the Reasons they had to urge in order to prevent his entering into a new War. These Letters add, that among other Considerations, it was offer'd to his Imperial Majesty, that tho' the Peace was just concluded with France, and it was to be presum'd might be exactly observ'd on either Side, yet the Circumstances of Affairs might alter, and it would be then too late to think of a Remedy; that the late War, tho' short, had yet brought his Imperial Majesty's Finances into some Disorder; that when all is done, the Czarina would be the greater Gainer; and that the intestine Affairs of the Empire, requir'd his Attention at this Time too closely, to permit him to look farther, with any Safety to the Tranquility of his own Country.

Our Letters from Holland mention, that there is a great Coolness at present, between the Dutch and the Swedes, the former looking upon the latter with an ill Eye, on account of the Favour they shew the English, prior to all other Nations; the Dutch have taken great Umbrage likewise at the India Company set up in Sweden.

The Province of Zealand having been all along deaf to the Importunity of his Serene Highness the Prince of Orange, for restoring his Marquisates of Ter-Veer, and Flushing, and lately taken some Steps towards establishing them in a Situation independent of his Sovereignty, his Majesty has been pleas'd to write a Letter to their High-Mightinesses the States-General, to the following Effect.

'High and Mighty Lords, our good Friends, Allies, and Confederates,

'AS our dear Cousin and Son-in-Law, the Prince of Orange and Nassau has represented to us, that he fears the States of Zealand intended to possess themselves of the Marquisate of Ter-Veer, and Flushing, and their Dependencies, and to reunite the Two Towns to their Province as entirely discharg'd and free from their Dependence on and Subjection to him, we could not refuse this Mark of our Affection, and even Justice, to a Prince so nearly related to us, as to write thereupon to you. We are willing to flatter ourselves, that the States of Zealand, our good Friends, will have more regard to an upright Execution of the last Will of our Predecessor of glorious Memory, the late King William the III. than to deprive the Prince of his Rights, which are in themselves so legal, and which, by the Representations made to us, appear founded upon Pretensions absolutely just and valid. But in case the States of Zealand, will, contrary to our Hopes, attempt to take away from our most dear Cousin and Son-in-Law, the lawful Possession of the Marquisate abovemention'd, and its Dependencies, we cannot doubt but you, High and Mighty Lords, our good Friends, as supreme and absolute Executors of the said last Will, will apply yourselves effectually to support the Rights of the said Prince of Orange, and Nassau, and employ as well your good Offices, as likewise all that Weight and Influence which you are possess'd of, to prevent a Decision so prejudicial to the Rights of the Prince and his Descendants, and to preserve to him and his Family, the just Possession of a Marquisate which he inherits from his glorious Ancestors. We cannot but expect this as a Proof both of your Equity and the strict Friendship which subsists between us and your Republick; and we will not fail in Return to testify our Acknowledgements on any Occasion that shall present.

'For the rest, we pray God to take you, High and Mighty Lords, our good Friends, Allies, and Confederates, into his holy Protection.

'Given at our Court at Herenhausen, the Fourth of September, 1736.

Your very good Friend,

GEORGE R.

(And lower)

H. WALPOLE.

They write from the Hague, that when this Letter was read before the States General, the Deputies of Holland behav'd with a remarkable Moderation; and that it being mov'd to refer it to a Committee, several of the Members refus'd to consent, and insisted that an immediate Answer be given his Majesty: But the Result of the Motion is not yet arriv'd.

Frederica in Georgia, August 30.

The Governor of Augustine having acquainted Mr Oglethorpe, that Don Antonio de Arrodondo, was arriv'd at Augustine, sent up a Commissioner from the Governor of Havanna, to make certain Demands and Propositions to him, he sent out a Sloop to bring Don Antonio by Sea into this Place. There are Three Companies of Foot from Havanna, arriv'd at Augustine, under the Command of Don Philip. Don Antonio appeared off this Bar last Wednesday, in a Spanish Vessel with Six Guns, in Company with the Sloop, and was permitted to come into Jekyl Sound, but not upon the Town. We hear that he solemny demands, that the English should evacuate all to the South of St. Helena's Sound; and in case he does not agree with Mr. Oglethorpe, he is to go to Charlestown with that Message. Mr. Oglethorpe and he have had several Conferences on board the Hawk Sloop. Don Antonio has been entertained in a very handsome Manner, and his whole Company have been provided with Refreshments and Garden-Stuff, of which we have Plenty, and they are much surprized thereat, considering how new the Settlement is. None of the Spaniards have been up at Town or any where else, except on Shore over against where the Sloop lies, Mr. Oglethorpe having there set up Tents and Beds for their Reception, and every Thing necessary is sent down to them.

Philadelphia, November 25. The Sloop Frederica, John Goodwin Master, lately arriv'd here from Frederica in Georgia, brings an account, that Mr. Oglethorpe has settled all Matters with the Governor of Augustine; and that there is a very good Understanding between the Spaniards and the English: That the furthest English Settlement lies in the Latitude of 30 deg. 30 min. the Town of Frederica, in 31 deg. 00 min. that of Savannah, in 32 deg. 00 min. The Governor of Augustine, (as Captain Goodwin heard) had agreed with Mr. Oglethorpe, that neither Party should be molested in their present Possessions, till the Determination of the Two Crowns; and that they would mutually represent the Affair to the Two Courts of Great-Britain and Spain, that the Limits of each might be fix'd accordingly.

Captain

Captain Goodwin informs us, that he found Three Fathom and an half Water upon the Bar of Frederica; and that he went in without a Pilot: That there are several Clapboard Houſes Built, and Two Brick Houſes one Story above the Ground, and Preparation for a great many more. There is a Fort with 4 Baſtions; One large Store-houſe Three Stories high, and another Building, the Timber being all ready on the Spot for that purpoſe.

By a Letter to a Gentleman in this City, from one in Georgia, dated Frederica, October 29. we have the following Paragraph, viz. "Mr. Oglethorpe has finiſh'd "his Affairs with the Spaniards with great Reputation "on his own Part, every Article of his propoſing being "Sign'd at Auguſtine, by a General Council of War; in "ſhort he has met with more Succeſs than his Expectation "would admit, being no ways ſhort of what he could "have wiſh'd: He is now returning to England, having "fix'd his People, and ſecur'd them againſt both Want "and Enemies; he ſails in a Fortnight.

January 12, 1736-7.

To Mr. Parks,

Sir,

I Should take it as a Favour, if you'll give the following Song a Place in your next Paper. It is a Revenge, long ſince due to good Senſe and fine Writing; which have been uſed in a moſt barbarous and inhumane Manner by the MONITOR. I can only aſſure you, that Ill-Nature had no Hand in the Compoſition; and that the Author was never in a better Humour in his Life, than while he was writing it. It would be Injuſtice to a Chirurgeon, to accuſe him of Ill-Nature, when Neceſſity obliges him to probe deeply and roughly into a Wound. As therefore it is a neceſſary Work, to clear the World of that worſt Kind of Vermin, Scribblers, I hope the Publick-ſpiritedneſs of the Deſign, may be ſome Excuſe for any Failure in the Execution. I am, Sir,

Your conſtant Reader, and Subſcriber.

Zoilus.

The MONITOR admoniſhed:

A new Song:

To the Tune of, To all ye Ladies now at Land.

Nunquamne reponam
Vexatus toties? Juv.

I, Who long ſince did draw my Pen
In injur'd Wit's Defence,
Am now alaſs! compell'd again
To ſuccour common Senſe:
For ſure it never ſuffer'd more,
Than lately by the Monitor.
with a fa la.

This Monitor pretends to preach
In ſacred Wiſdom's Schools;
But I'll a uſeful Leſſon teach,
Worth all his ſilly Rules;
By which he'll mend, what's gone before;
And this is, Never to write more.
with a fa la.

A Pack of Dogs he gave in Print,
An odd and motley Crew;
But couch'd a double Meaning in't,
If what they ſay, is true:
For as he did his Mongrels pair,
Himſelf he plac'd a Sad-Dog there.
with a fa la.

I'm ſorry, that 'tis ſtill my Fate,
Ungrateful Truths to tell;
But ſince, that he's a Dunce, of late
The World does not conceal,
'Tis Pity, to himſelf alone
This weighty Truth ſhould be unknown.
with a fa la.

Advice ſhould never be too long;
That ſpoils it's Grace and End:
I therefore will conclude this Song,
By whip'ring as a Friend,
That, if he's any Senſe of Shame,
He'd wiſely ſtill conceal his Name.
with a fa la.

Williamsburg, January 21. Yeſterday being the Birth-Day of his Royal Highneſs FREDERICK, Prince of WALES, it was obſerv'd here by Firing of Guns, Diſplaying of Colours, and other publick Demonſtrations of Joy.
